TERMS & CONDITIONS

1. Please note that THAT ART FAIR is an artist-driven fair and, for this reason, the artists' names will be displayed more prominently than that of the representing gallery.
2. Whilst you maintain the property rights to supplied images, and while all copyright aspects will be respected, THAT ART FAIR and its Media Partners reserve the right to use all images submitted for marketing and promotional purposes, both in print and online.
3. All applications must be sent via email, with all corresponding material attached, to thatartfair@artafricamagazine.org – any applications submitted otherwise will not be accepted.
4. Please bear in mind that all deadlines and decisions are subject to change at the discretion of THAT ART FAIR and ART AFRICA
5. All applications will be carefully considered to ensure compliance with the core values of the fair and its organisers.
6. The selection committee will consider the suitability of the proposed work both individually as well as how the exhibitor may bring the work together to create a cohesive, curated exhibition. The selection committee and organisers reserve the right to offer applicants a stand conditional upon the exclusion of certain artwork.

HOW THAT ART FAIR WORKS

1. You apply and we let you know whether your application is successful or not
2. You make your own travel and accommodation arrangements
3. You can apply to various funding bodies or your Department of Art and Culture for a subsidy or funding for you to attend THAT ART FAIR
4. You get your work together ready to ship or carry to THAT ART FAIR
5. If you cannot be at THAT ART FAIR yourself, we will hang the work on your behalf and have permanent staff to liaise with clients and confirm sales
6. You will be advised of any sales when made
7. Manic Global (our logistics partner) will handle the administration of sales and will process payments from the purchaser and pay over to you. There will be an administration fee involved (amount T.B.C.)
8. A contract will be sent to you on confirmation of acceptance of your application
